Xian Dai Architects - Shanghai & Beijing, China

Pecha-Kucha: Shanghai Style

Award-winning architects from Shanghai's Xian Dai Architectural Group will show off the projects that earned them a paid sabbatical to study sustainable design at University of Oregon. Learn about how the fast-paced development of cities is being orchestrated by young designers. Projects include parametric towers, green neighborhood design and medical facilities.

University of Oregon students curious about working in Asia can learn about the opportunity to spend eight weeks at their firm through the Shanghai Xian Dai summer internship program. For more information, see <http://blogs.uoregon.edu/shanghaiarch/>
