What is space for creating art, for living as an artist? How can architectural design support arts based economic development?

Travel to Sisters, Oregon. Engage local artists, the arts community, and regional building material stocks.

Develop individual design proposals for a buildable prototype mobile studio or moveable live/work art space to plug into existing city lots. Emphasis on physical and digital model building and construction detailing.

Student design proposals will serve as the foundation for further design development beginning summer 2011 and for construction of a prototype for the Sisters Art Works site.

Supported by the Roundhouse Foundation