THE LYCEUM COMPETITION 2013:
MOORE FALL-WINTER EUGENE 2012/13 TERMINAL SEQUENCE

The Lyceum Competition invites architecture students to submit design proposals in response to a program to be announced in July 2012. To see the program, for a description of the traveling fellowship awards and for work from past competitions, see the web site www.lyceum-fellowship.org.

In the fall term, a six-week design competition phase will be preceded by a four-week design exercise and introduction to a digital design tool. The fall term will be taught in conjunction with Jolie Kern’s ARCH 4/584 studio who will also be developing competition proposals. While all 4/584 and 4/585 studio participants will complete a design proposal in response to this program, competition awards are available only to students having at least one year of study remaining. In the winter term, terminal studio students will use their competition proposals as the basis for the design development of an approximately 35,000 sf building in its site.

Instruction:
Assistant Professor Erin Moore, Department of Architecture, moore2@uoregon.edu, LA 370.