"The Northwest Center for Building Arts"

Instructor: James Givens

This Center will focus on the roles of building, fabrication and craft arts. It will serve as private place of research as well as a public place for making.

Students will focus on crafting the mission of the Center, on programming its spaces and on developing their process and design abilities. The adaptive re-use project will be in Portland.